BOOTLEG POISON
UTAH SCRAPPING
GERMANY FIT

—By Arthur Brisbane—
(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

BOOTLEG LIQUOR IS EFFICIENT
Two men drank "genuine, pre-war rye whiskey" in a New York speakeasy, disguised as a toy shop.

One dropped dead at the bar. The other walked to the sidewalk and died there.

ALBERT COATES, AT CYRUS H. K. Curtis' request, names the 50 greatest composers.

Mr. Coates, excellent musician, thanks to alphabetical order, puts Bach first, Beethoven second. Beethoven should be first, although he called Bach greater than himself.

Wagner comes third, although not third in Mr. Coates' list, and the rest are nowhere, in comparison.

Jiggers, a small dog, property of Mrs. Caulker, bit another lady three times. New Jersey justice sentenced the dog to immediate death. His owner ran screaming from the courtroom, then hid the dog and refuses to tell where he is.

The lady bitten three times is not satisfied.

RECENTLY ONR FINE battleship Utah, competing with all the ships in our navy, won the prize for greatest efficiency.

And this fall the Utah, Wyoming and Florida will all be scrapped, in accordance with the London naval treaty. We only lose, in case of war, three targets for airplanes.

But can you imagine anything slier than destroying battleships that cost forty to fifty million dollars each, in obedience to foreign orders, and then proceeding to spend $1,000,000,000 on cruisers with six-inch guns that, according to our ablest navy officers, will do us no good when we get them?

GERMANY MADE a great fight while the war lasted, and has shown amazing powers of recuperation following the war, in spite of the Versailles treaty and the allies' gold demands.

You understand that when you read "Illiteracy in Berlin is only 4 per cent, less of all European capitals."

Of 28,000,000 books on the shelves of European libraries, the city of Berlin has 9,360,000 and all are serious books for students and research workers.

The highest rate of illiteracy is at Teheran, capital of Persia, 82 per cent unable to read or write.

The motto of Danton, French revolutionist, "Audacity, More Audacity, Always Audacity," was, until lately, the motto of all earnest prohibitionists. They never retreated, never vacillated, but said to the men in the office, "Disobey us and you will be missing after the next election."

But now the representative of prohibition in New York's Republican party coos as mildly as any sucking dove, begging wet Republicans not to spoil harmony in the national party by dragging in booze.

Candidates For State Offices Place Fate In Hands Of Voters

FIERY SPEECHES COME AT END OF OHIO CAMPAIGNS

Brown, Ake Favored To Take Lead In Race For G. O. P. Posts

DEMOCRATS STAGE SENATORIAL TILT

November Elections Are Looming As Hottest In Many Years

BY MURRAY POWERS Staff Correspondent For The News

COLUMBUS, Aug. 9.—With bursts of oratory and promises, verbal assaults upon opponents and last-minute check-ups on their drives, Ohio candidates today had reached the climax of their pre-primary campaigns and were beginning to cool off preparatory to awaiting the decision of voters at next Tuesday's primary.

While Monday marks the final day of campaigning, nevertheless most of the candidates in the heat of their fight for votes are now just putting on the finishing touches.

Stir But Little

Ohicans have seen a campaign that stirred them but little. With the exception of the five candidates seeking the Democratic nomination for United States Senator and the two likewise striving for the Democratic nomination for governor, most of the battling this summer has been done on the local county fronts.

Only two offices call for contests on the Republican ticket—the secretary of state and treasurer. Clarence Brown, seeking his third term as secretary, has campaigned quietly, answering occasional attacks.

Brown, it is generally agreed, will have little difficulty in garnering enough votes to be renominated. H. Ross Ake of Canton, now treasurer by virtue of Gov. Myers V. Cooper's appointment, is anxious to continue

Flat Tires Tough, Officers Agree

HARRISON, N. J., Aug. 9.—In this case it wasn't the heat, it was the humidity. Two police officers suspicious of a car parked in front of a manufacturing plant and fearing a holdup was to be attempted, deflated the tires. The car proved to be the property of a visiting deputy sheriff. So the police officers doffed their coats and restored the tires to normalcy.

Mr. Moock had been in ill health following a stroke of paralysis several years ago. Recently he had been subject to spells of drowsiness but had continued performing his business duties.

Stark County Coroner T. C. McQuate determined that death had been caused by a self-inflicted gunshot wound.

Mr. Moock had risen at the usual hour on Friday and had gone to the basement of his home. Several minutes later he went to the bathroom. When members of his family reached his side he was dying.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 9.—Leonard Madden, 26, well known jockey, was instantly killed last night by a fast passenger train as he was trying to push his stalled automobile off the track. His wife, Pearl, who was aiding him, barely escaped similar death.

Madden, whose home was in Pittsburgh, was riding at the Bainbridge race track near here.

A second grade crossing accident resulted in the death of Charles Miller of Cleveland, whose car was struck by a New York Central passenger train.

Mental Hazards Mean Nothing To Him

GREAT NECK, N. Y., Aug. 9.—Mental hazard is a mere stimulant to Arthur "Ducky" Yates, Syracuse broker, former state amateur golf champion and one-time Yale football star. About to tee off in the state tournament, he was arrested on a grand larceny charge in connection with a stock deal. With the detective as a companion he went around the course in par and won his match.

HEAT WAVE IN AMERICA STILL SEARS NATION

Deaths Come As Mercury Hangs Near Century Point Generally

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—Heat and high humidity ruled jointly over most of the nation today.

Parts of middle America were wilted. The searing scourge even skipped far into the northwest, across the continental divide.

In Idaho, Orfino was burning up, experiencing a high yesterday of 111. Couer D'Alene had 105 and Lewistown 103. Temperatures in most of the northwest ranged upwards from 90 degrees. Only slight damage to the late wheat crop was reported, however.

In southern Illinois and Indiana, in the valleys of the dwindling Ohio and Mississippi rivers, the intense heat hung on and the forecast offered no relief. For the first successive day, Evansville, Ind., yesterday roared with the thermometer at 105. At Washington, Ind., it was 106.

Mercury Goes High At Carbondell, Ill., it was 111. Johnson City reported 110, the latter town broadcast a report that a setting hen deserted her brood a week ago because of the heat; yesterday the eggs hatched.

To the west, in Missouri and Kansas, the heat wave continued unabated. Lamonte, Mo., reported 110 yesterday. Kansas City had 103. Farmers felt concern for their stock due to the shortage of water. Six died from the heat in St. Louis yesterday and today.

The Ohio, Mississippi and Missouri rivers, and their tributaries, are rapidly approaching a state where navigation will be impossible, river men said.

In St. Louis a 2.2 stage was unusually low for August, although still far above the all-time low stage of 3.1 below zero in December, 1917. At this point, the channel still has an eight foot depth when the stage is low, however.

At Mount City, Ill., dredges are deepening the channel of the Ohio. The U. S. towboat Thorpe, upbound with four freight barges, was grounded in the Mississippi yesterday at La Crosse, Wis. At this point, river men said the water was the lowest in 20 years.

Fire Firms Menace In scattered sections of the great lakes area, small bits of woodland were ablaze adding a new menace to the midwest drought.

Cooler weather was the forecast for Iowa which sweltered yesterday with temperatures averaging 100 over the state. Although no rain was in sight, cooler weather was forecast by night fall for Minnesota.

In Nebraska, new hopes for a good corn crop were expressed, due to the recent showers and extremely high humidity.

Showers splashed scattered sections of Ohio but not enough to help crops in general. Temperatures ranged yesterday between 85 and 90.

Three died yesterday in Philadelphia, where the mercury rose to 96.

Return Home

LISBON, Aug. 9.—Probate Judge Lodge Riddle and Mrs. Riddle have returned to their home here following a motor trip to Detroit and Canada, and immediately after the primary election they will complete their summer holiday, remaining away from Lisbon a few days longer.

Places Charge

ZANESVILLE, Aug. 9.—Charles H. Hubbell, candidate for the Democratic nomination as supreme court judge, charged that the Hamilton county Democratic committee had omitted his name from sample ballots.

Enlists Science

WOOSTER, Aug. 9.—The future of the dairy industry depends largely on science, and the application of principals developed through science, said O. E. Reed, chief of the bureau of dairy industry, U. S. department of agriculture, in an address at the state experiment station here.

SALEM MEN ON BALLOT SPURS CITY INTEREST

Three Seek County Posts In Primary Tests; Will Parade On Monday

ACTIVITY GREAT IN ALL OF COLUMBIANA

Only Two Republicans In Race Are Without Any Party Opposition

Political activity as far as candidates themselves are concerned, neared its final turn in Columbiana county today as those involved in contests for nomination on the Republican ticket planned completion of vigorous campaigns throughout the county preparatory to the primary election, scheduled Tuesday, during the weekend.

Interest in the primaries is reported increasing steadily and practically every city, town and village in the county is anticipating a record-breaking turnout to the county's 106 precincts. Vote in the 13 precincts in this city is expected to surpass the 2,000-mark for the first time in primary history.

Expect Heavy Voting

Unusually heavy voting is anticipated by Republican leaders in this city and voters are urged to visit polls, which open at 6:30 a. m., as early as possible to avoid noon-hour and late afternoon rushes. Absent voting ballots must be in hands of the county board of election at East Liverpool by midnight Sunday.

Salem Republicans expect to climax a campaign for the support of tree candidates from this city with a political parade through the city's streets Monday night. Plans for the affair are now being arranged by a committee appointed at a party meeting at the Memorial building Thursday.

Permission to hold the parade was secured by Harold Hise, chairman of the committee, from Mayor J. M. Davidson and Police Chief T. W. Thompson last night.

Three Salem Men

Salem is represented in the primary race with three candidates seeking nomination on the Republican ticket. Dr. Edwin Agner Coles, former East Liverpool resident, is a candidate for the position of coroner and is opposed by Ernest R. Sturgis of East Liverpool. Seven seek the nomination for county recorder, one of whom is Donald J. Burawac of this city, while John C. Litty is involved in a five-corner contest for the treasurer'ship.

It is the first time in years that this city has entered three candidates into a county political race.

Two Are Unopposed

Impetus is added to interest in the county race by virtue of the fact that only two of seven Republican candidates are unopposed. John E. Baunkecht, prosecuting attorney and William J. Barlow, sheriff, have no opposition at the primaries while Barlow is as yet without contest in the November finals.

Frank Murphy, representative to congress from this district is unopposed for the nomination as is Earl R. Lewis of St. Clairsville, for the Republican nomination as state senator. R. D. Smith of Salineville is unopposed for nomination as representative to general assembly.

Mrs. Ila Marshall Cronin of East Liverpool and Mrs. Ben L. Morris are candidates for nomination as member of the state central committee while W. Campbell George is without opposition for the men's state central committee.

Jack Pickford Will Wed Stage Actress

SALINAS, CAL., Aug. 9.—Jack Pickford, screen actor, was today making preparations for his third trip to the altar, this time with Miss Mary Mulhern, New York stage actress, with whom he filed notice of intention to marry at the Monterey county court house yesterday.

Three days must elapse in accordance with California law before the time notice of intention is filed, and a license issued. The couple announced no definite plans, but it was learned they would be married "somewhere on Monterey peninsula." Presumably at Del Monte Lodge, as soon as they obtain the license. Whether this would be Sunday or Monday could not be ascertained.

The groom-to-be, a brother of Mary Pickford, gave his age as 33, and Miss Mulhern said she was 22. Both gave their residences as Hollywood.

CLAUDIUS HUSTON RESIGNS

Claudius H. Huston, who resigned Thursday as national chairman of the Republican party, tells the nation he still is conscious of his own integrity despite the "Campaign of persecution" which forced him to quit. Mr. Huston has taken it on the chin, in other words, and as far as he is concerned is not ashamed of himself in the least. He withdraws, not because he is ready to admit that he is holding an untenable position.

Mr. Huston says:

"When I became chairman, I expected to bear philosophically the usual burden of criticism and abuse that has come to be recognized as the penalty attaching to high places in American politics. Almost immediately a persistent campaign of persecution was instituted for the purpose of injuring my effectiveness."

And later:

"Every personal inclination I have is to fight this thing to a finish, especially in view of the unfair tactics that have been employed, and it is on that account that I have delayed my present action until now."

The apparent charge against Mr. Huston was misappropriation of funds which he collected for the Tennessee River Improvement association. When the matter was brought before the senate lobby investigating committee, however, there was insufficient evidence to prove the charges and Mr. Huston escaped with nothing but a troublesome whispering campaign as a memento.

As he steps down from his post, Claudius Huston is as strong a man as ever. His critics are stilled, his friends are unshaken. Under the leadership of the new national chairman, Senator Simon D. Fess, and the executive chairman, Robert H. Lucas, the Republican party should present again "the solid front" which Mr. Huston recommended for the sake of its efficiency.

READY FOR RELIEF

The federal government stands ready to give relief to drought-stricken areas. While the administration's announcement that it is considering a reduction in freight rates on live stocks and feeds is but a gesture, it should be accepted by agriculturists as an indication of the deep concern which the country has for them in their plight. The federal farm board's announcement that it will draw upon its funds for loans to farmers is another token offered in the same spirit.

The federal government can do little more than follow the example of the farmers, who are sitting tight and awaiting developments. Unless the railroads and other carriers volunteer to make rate reductions voluntarily, the interstate commerce commission could only force them to do so after thorough-going hearings and investigations which would take too long to aid a temporary emergency. Similarly, the extension of loans would entail establishment of a great deal of machinery that could not be assembled in a short time.

Meanwhile, it is not amiss to bear in mind that there may be "paper" losses in crops as well as in stocks; that some of the pessimistic reports current may be based in part upon shrinkage in abnormal yields. President Hoover has pointed out most wisely that it is too early to determine the "precise character of relief," and it is plainly evident to anyone that there is an element of dangerous deception in round-figure estimates during the midst of any disturbance.

Next Monday the department of agriculture will make public its monthly crop estimate, and while the official figures will be for conditions as of Aug. 1, additional and comprehensive information from all sections will be forthcoming on prospects up to the end of the present week. This information, which will carry with it a weight of official authority, can be accepted with greater assurance of accuracy than the rather loose estimates compiled by other agencies.

ACHIEVEMENTS AND STUNTS

Appearing within a few hours of each other two bits of news having to do with achievement make an interesting contrast. The first concerns Captain Frank Hawk's east-west flight across the United States, breaking all records of time. The second concerns a project described by two marines in an eastern city, who have announced they will bounce across the Atlantic in a 15-foot rubber ball—if someone will give them the ball.

Captain Hawk's flight was a distinct achievement, but crossing the Atlantic in a rubber ball also would be an achievement of some sort or another. This sort is more commonly termed stunting.

In this subdivision are included a great many things that demand bravery, extraordinary effort and boldness—all characteristics of real achievement. But, unlike real achievement, a stunt is characterized by futility—an utter lack of value to the progress of humanity.

As long as stunts retained some semblance of amateurishness no one cared much about them, but the present push to commercialize them is an affront to persons engaged in achievements whose nature makes them interesting. The professional coffin sleeper, tree sitter, dance marathoner, egg eater, flagpole sitter and the rest of them are off their reservation when they presume to a place in the public attention. They ceased to be news long ago.

One thing could straighten the matter out once and for all. Achievement doesn't go begging for money; stunting does. When the dimes and quarters stop rolling in the stunts will have to find something better to do.

Tailwind H. Sealyham terrier noted chiefly for his desertion of John Henry Mears, is back. The pup figured he might as well be faithful until his master gets ready to try another transatlantic flight.

A coal operator in West Virginia blames radio broadcasting for the heat and drought. Too many dry speeches, perhaps.

Down in Mexico when they rope 'em in at election time they don't fool. They do it with a horse and a lasso.

After years of observation we can say confidently that it's always a sure bet if you put your money on the hero in a moving picture fight.

With the ground baked to the hardness of concrete it hardly seems likely that the little worms will turn out after a hard rain.

What Others Say

A TRUTHFUL CENTENARIAN

Our favorite centenarian is Friedrich Koelling, a St. Louisian, who attained that magnificent age yesterday. Usually, the centenarian is a hopelessly vain creature. That day is lost when some one who is not the least interested undertakes to make him happy by asking, "To what do you attribute your great age?" It is exactly the same low order of flattery involved in asking a mature woman how she retains that schoolgirl complexion. The centenarian then delightfully proceeds to unroll his formula. There are about six of these formulae, as follows: Abstinence from alcoholic liquor. A daily nip of whiskey. No exercise or undue exertion. Plenty of exercise and all sorts of dangerous living. No tobacco. The comfort of a pipe.

Mr. Koelling belongs to none of these schools. When pinned down, as he was yesterday, he admitted that he has no idea why he has lived so long. This sets a record, establishes a precedent, to say nothing of marking an epoch.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Functioning Of Pancreas

The pancreas is one of the vital organs of the body. It is a long thin gland weighing not more than three or four ounces. It lies under and behind the stomach, somewhat to the left side. It produces a liquid secretion called the pancreatic fluid. Although the organ is small, it secretes about one and three-fourths pints of digestive fluid daily.

Very close to the point where the stomach contents pass into the intestinal canal the pancreas empties into the intestine also. As the food leaves the stomach it is almost immediately mixed with the bile, produced by the liver and with the fluid from the pancreas.

The pancreatic fluid is of great value to the body. Among other things, it dissolves the particles or masses of food which have not been liquefied by the churning and juices of the stomach.

It does more than this. It assists in converting the starchy foods into sugar which then can be dissolved and made useful to the body. The lean parts of meat, the curds of milk and the glutinous parts of cereals are all liquefied by the pancreatic juice. Fats that have become an oily mixture in the stomach are digested and emulsified by the pancreatic juice.

The bile helps here, too. It does good work in preventing decomposition in the intestines and stimulates the bowels.

Food to be useful in the body must be dissolved and liquefied by these valuable secretions the pancreatic juice and the bile. You can see how important the pancreas is. When it stops working you begin to have trouble.

Additional interest has been given the pancreas in recent years in the treatment of diabetes. It was found that the substance called "insulin," which is obtained from the pancreas of animals, such as cattle and sheep, is extremely valuable. If it is injected into the circulation of the diabetic patient the disease may be checked.

Insulin, if used for a long time and with the proper regulation of the diet, is capable of doing wonders. It enables the person afflicted with diabetes to live a useful life over the natural span of years.

It is not good for us to have the pancreas fail to function properly. Immediately we begin to lose the nourishing values of certain foods. They pass through the body without being properly dissolved and are left unready for absorption by the blood.

There may be an acute type and a chronic type of inflammation of the pancreas. These cases are not common and are difficult to diagnose.

If people would follow simple rules of personal hygiene and eat in moderation proper foods the likelihood of pancreatic trouble would be reduced to a minimum. Like all the other functions, the pancreatic is promoted by right living.

BOSTON—Anyway it was a way to obtain relief from the heat. Six-year-old Harry Hamparian jumped into a barrel of tar, and because of the 90 degree temperature the tar clung so tightly Harry's Harry's chums could not get him out. Police called the fire department. The fire ladders turned a hose on the tar, the cold water hardened the tar, and then they chopped Harry out.

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, August 10

Sunday's horoscope is a rather adverse one, with the conventional interests of the day under a cloud of confusion and conspiracy. There is a sinister sign from Neptune, which bears rule over all spiritual, mystical and secret relations, although a fair aspect between Jupiter and Mercury may allude the mind to higher activity, thereby precluding chaos and treachery. Be careful with money.

Those whose birthday it is may have a treacherous year to encounter, with affairs sordid and sinister to handle. The mind may be equipped to surmount these menaces, but be careful with funds and guard against all underhand possibilities. A child born on this day, although having some noble mental qualities and aims, may be disposed to dark and subtle ways, unless given a rigorous training in integrity, honesty and moral staminal.

For Monday, August 11

Monday's astrological forecast is a most propitious one, with augury of gain and substantial growth in all new undertakings as well as stability and expansion of established activities. It is a time for pushing toward high goals with diligence, initiative and ambition. But be careful in signing all writings.

Those whose birthday it is are assured of a year of achievement and fulfilled ambitions, whether in new business adventures or in the old.

established lines. Steady application, industry as well as fresh initiative are under splendid rule for growth and stability. It is a time for pushing, but sign all writings with precaution. A child born on this day should have splendid ability for reaching high goals with the disposition for hard work as well as new adventure, but a tendency toward craftiness and expediency had best be restrained.

STATEMENT BY Elmer E. Walker COUNTY AUDITOR

A signed statement was published in the Wellsville News of August 7, 1930, and has been distributed in various localities in Columbiana County.

This statement asserts that the payroll in the County Auditor's office has been greatly increased during my administration as County Auditor.

In order that the public may know the exact truth, I have asked The Hartt Audit Company of East Liverpool to audit the payrolls of the Auditor's office for the entire time in which I have been County Auditor and for the full year next preceding my administration.

[This certified audit appears below:]

CERTIFIED AUDIT

East Liverpool, Ohio,
August 8, 1930.

At the request of Elmer E. Walker, County Auditor, I personally audited the payroll accounts of the County Auditor's office for the full term during which Elmer E. Walker has served as County Auditor and also for the year next preceding his administration.

I hereby certify that the payroll for the full year next preceding the administration of Elmer E. Walker amounted to $17,097.87

The average yearly payroll during the entire administration of Elmer E. Walker amounts to $14,037.78

The decrease in the average yearly payroll during the entire administration of Elmer E. Walker as compared with the payroll during the year next preceding the administration of Elmer E. Walker amounts to $3,060.09

I hereby certify that this audit and the figures herein contained are true and correct.

[Signed]

C. L. HART, President,
The Hartt Audit Co.
of East Liverpool, Ohio.

The decrease in the payroll account during my administration as shown by the Hartt audit has been accomplished not by the reduction of wages but by a decrease in the number of employees, which decrease has necessitated greater efficiency on the part of the office employees.

This saving to the county taxpayers has been brought about during a period of years when office costs have been generally increasing rather than decreasing.

If elected to a second term as County Auditor, I assure the people of Columbiana County the continuance of the economies shown in the Hartt Audit.

[Signed]

Governors Consider Plan For Campaign; To Open During August

PERMANENT DRIVE VIEW OF SPONSORS

Motor Vehicle Laws To Be Enforced In All New England Area

BOSTON, Aug. 9.—Setting the pace for the rest of the nation, the governors of the six New England states have under consideration a permanent program for development of highway safety, a plan which was submitted after the "Save-A-Life Period" for August was inaugurated.

Like the "Save-A-Life" campaign designed to halt 2,000,000 automobiles on the highways of New England for inspection of brakes, headlights and equipment—the permanent program was formulated by Gov. Frank G. Allen and was submitted to the chief executives of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island and Connecticut.

Careful consideration was promised by the governors to the permanent plan, which embraces legislative, engineering, educational and enforcement features, and organization of a committee on highway safety with co-operative committees in the principal cities and towns of New England.

Gov. Allen's plan first calls for the adoption of uniform state acts, one of the few proposals which never has been tried in this section. Under the general head of legislation it also recommended uniform signal codes, accident reporting, and uniform laws or regulations providing for periodic compulsory inspection of motor vehicles and equipment.

Under engineering, the program suggested first, the establishment of a state division of traffic engineering. This would be followed by the development of a definite program for the elimination of such physical hazards as obstruction to view or travel and increase in warning and direction signs. The plans also suggested elimination of grade crossing hazards through engineering and education.

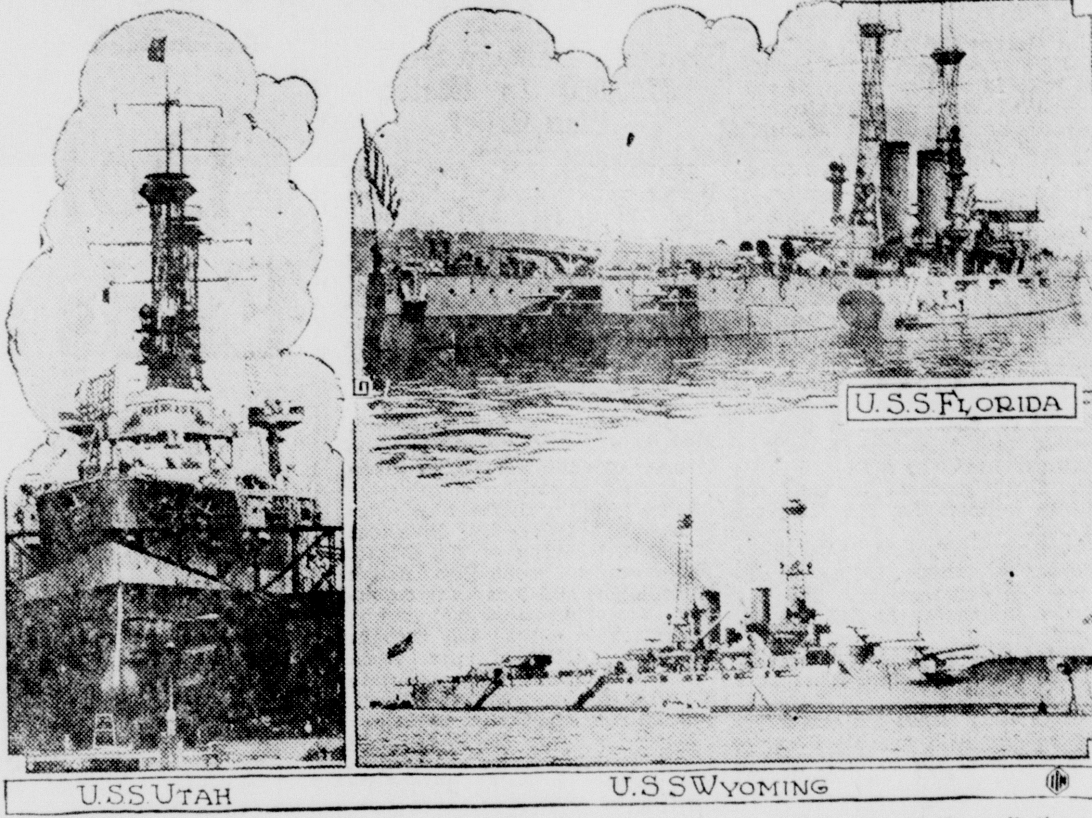

The adoption by the departments of education of a course in safety education, was one of the principal points of Gov. Allen's proposal.

Gov. Allen's final suggestion was the adoption of a policy of strict enforcement of all motor vehicle laws and regulations.

Proposals to the New England governors for the adoption of the permanent safety program came at the same time the chief executives of the six states met at the state house on Beacon Hill here, and issued proclamations setting aside the month of August as "Save-A-Life Period" during which time 2,000,000 automobiles in the six states would undergo strict examination of their brakes, headlights, and all other equipment.

The opening of the campaign marked the first time compulsory automobile inspection was held in Massachusetts, since the new law to that effect passed by the last

Pride Of U. S. Fleet Goes To Scrap Pile

U.S.S. FLORIDA

U.S.S. UTAH

U.S.S. WYOMING

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 9.—The game of peace, the Government is rapidly learning, costs as much to play as the war sport.

To replace the Utah, the Florida and the Wyoming—the three super-dreadnaughts we are scrapping early this Fall, as agreed in the London Naval Pact—would cost at least $200,000,000.

The three giant men-of-war comprise one-sixth of our entire fighting strength. Under the terms of the pact, the Government could delay relegating the vessels to the junkheap until much later.

The Navy Department, however, has decided to scrap the three famous sea dogs in the next few weeks. This is being done in spite of the fact that the Japanese Government has not yet endorsed the naval reduction program agreed to by her delegates.

general court. Nearly 3000 stations in the New England states have been opened for the inspection.

Gov. Allen declared that New England should not become complacent and relax her safety efforts because her increase in fatalities last year over the year before was only 5.9 per cent, as compared with 19.3 per cent for the whole country.

The man who says two can live as cheaply as one—has never lead a double life.

If the Japanese nation fails to fall into line—her sea strength will become almost equal to ours. The Florida and Utah both were launched in 1911. At the time they were placed into service they were the fastest, best-equipped and most powerful fighting craft afloat.

One of the three ships to be junked, the Utah, has seen the most active service. It was the Utah which steamed into Vera Cruz during 1914 to crush a Mexican uprising that endangered the lives and property of American citizens.

Landing from her, bluejackets and marines fought their way through a hailstorm of snipers' bullets and captured the town with heavy casualties on both sides.

The Florida also engaged in the taking of Vera Cruz and her doughty tars won her a share in the honor bestowed upon her sister ship.

In the World War all three of the ships to be scrapped were put into active service guarding the seas from enemy craft.

The Florida and Wyoming were assigned to patrols in the North Sea. With many other Allied vessels they prevented the bottled-up German fleet from making a dash for the coasts of England and France.

According to official Navy Department reports, the Florida was attacked ten times by unseen submarines. Each time she escaped the deadly German torpedoes.

The Wyoming's main task during the war was chasing back to German ports scores of ships sent out to attack Allied shipping vessels.

The Utah meanwhile was being used as a convoy and carried thousands upon thousands of American soldiers to Europe.

After the war the three dreadnaughts were made oil burners.

Stiff Examinations Face Motormen On Stark R. R.

ALLIANCE, Aug. 9.—When operators for the Stark Electric railroad company take their qualifying examination, they must answer 252 questions. Unless they pass the test with a grade of at least 95 per cent, they go back to school.

For the new employee, classes are held every week by Walter Kropf, superintendent of transportation. These classes are held in one of the cars. Approximately three months are spent in studying the methods of operating cars before the "student" is ready to take his examination.

There is no blackboard on which the examination questions are written. This would be too bothersome. Instead, the "student" is given a 27-page booklet containing the questions he must answer. Out of the 252 questions listed, he must answer 238 correctly.

The school for operators was started by Kropf little more than two years ago. It is held to teach operators how to handle cars, what precautions to take to safeguard their passengers and how to detect and remedy trouble which develops on the road.

After they pass the examination, operators still go to school. But instead of classes each week, they attend only once a month. Besides studying rules and regulations, they consider problems which arise from time to time.

The Stark Electric has 38 operators at the present time, operating between Salem and Canton. Service is given 24 hours a day between Alliance and Canton and 20 hours a day between Alliance and Salem. Last year, Stark Electric cars operated a total of 1,357,523 miles and carried a total of 3,173,033 passengers.

in office and has campaigned vigorously throughout the state, reaching practically every county. Mrs. Pauline Buckley of Dayton, wife of the former treasurer, Bert B. While Ake probably will have more opposition than Brown, nevertheless it is believed that like Brown he will come out ahead quite easily.

Democrats In Tilt

The week saw the five Democratic senatorial candidates—one of which will face U. S. Senator Roscoe C. McCullough in the November election—scrapping among themselves in their own party forums.

Most of the general "row" was over former Congressman Robert Buckley of Cleveland, the wettest candidate of the lot. He seeks the nomination on an anti-prohibition platform. At a meeting here in Columbus Thursday night his opponents attacked him for his stand. Particularly hard-hitting was George S. Myers, also of Cleveland. W. W. Durbin of Kenton, Charles V. Truax of Bucyrus and John McSweeney of Wooster also were in the festivities. After he had received their thrusts, Buckley answered them in a few sarcastic words.

"In this campaign I have said nothing about any of my opponents which would make it difficult for me to support them were they nominated," he said.

And that will be one of the Democrats' worries after the primary—whether they will be able to mend their organization after the five-cornered battle for the senatorial nomination.

White In Favor

George White of Marietta is generally conceded the nomination for Governor on the Democratic ticket, although Stephen M. Young of Cleveland has been campaigning throughout the state and has received several county organization endorsements.

Most of the battles have been of the local variety with a number of congressional contests.

There is but little doubt that the November election campaign will be about as fierce as any Ohio has seen.

For months the Democratic state headquarters has maintained an organization here that has flooded Ohio with publicity assaults on the present administration. All possible issues have been brought up and the most made of them. At the same time the Republicans, knowing that the campaign will be fierce, are preparing for the battle.

Mabel Satterthwait, Mary S. Edgerton, Anna Hall and Alice Oliphant furnished topics of general interest on treatment of special cases of misbehavior in children. Mary Colman gave an account of a recent trip to Luray caverns in Virginia.

The decision was reached to meet at the home of Mrs. Clifton Hall on Sept. 11, for an evening meeting with husbands and children as guests of the club. Anna Hall, Sina Stanley, Dorothy Fowler and Mary Woodman were appointed as refreshment committee with Olive Hall, leader for the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Livezey and family who have been visiting relatives at Barnesville, during his vacation from his position at the experiment station at Cortland, visited Mrs. Livezey's mother, Mrs. Rachel Gamble, Thursday night.

Butler grange which held their regular meeting Thursday evening at the hall one mile west of Winona featured a volunteer program, contributors to the entertainment included: Mrs. Nina Walton, Mrs. Esther Whitney, Mrs. Bertha Ward, Mrs. Stella Fuhr, Walter Walton and Duane Wolf. One new candidate was voted on. Initiation to first and second degree will be conferred at the meeting on Aug. 1.

HOOVER STARTS RELIEF PLANS

Governors Of States To Assemble Thursday To Consider Campaign

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—President Hoover's talents were concentrated today on the task of welding together an effective campaign for relieving the sufferings of the drought stricken country.

As a first step the chief executive has called on the governors of the most seriously affected states to meet with him here next Thursday to determine a method of bringing into play all available state and county agencies for relief with the cooperation of various federal branches, and the Red Cross.

Meanwhile, at his Virginia fishing camp Mr. Hoover was studying carefully the field reports compiled by the department of agriculture, defining the ascertained damage on maps of the stricken area.

Announcing his decision to call the governors late yesterday the President said preliminary reports indicated approximately 1,000,000 farm families were affected, together with livestock amounting to 12 percent of the total annual population of the country. In a lengthy statement surveying the situation Mr. Hoover said the situation was one to cause a great deal of concern.

"But it must be borne in mind," he added, "that the drought has mainly affected animal feed. The bulk of the direct human food production of the country being abundantly on hand."

"Nevertheless, there will be a great deal of privation among families in the drought areas due to the loss of income and the financial difficulties imposed upon them to carry their animals over the winter."

The motorcyclist was thankful to pay for the beer and the services rendered.

The churches of Salem and elsewhere in our country should be filled on the Sabbath day whether the drought continues or the return of refreshing showers. There is plenty of scripture in the Bible to convince any rational believing mind that the God of the heavens has the giving as well as the withholding of the rain. Psalms 107-33, 35 is sufficiently clear as to this fact. "He turneth the rivers into a wilderness, and the watersprings into dry ground; A fruitful land into barrenness, for he hath dried up the water thereof. He turneth the wilderness into a standing water, and dry ground into water-springs."

"The officials of our Salem water works have a perfect right to turn off the water supply from any residence of our city when they persistently fail to pay their water rent. Should not God have a right to turn off some of our blessings until we pay the price of the sins of ingratitude. God the Father went to tremendous expense in giving his only begotten Son that through him we might have the Water of Life. Then why not come to His house on the Sabbath day and render unto him our worship and praise, as well on the other hand, improve him for our future welfare."

I do not think it out of place even in a church announcement to call attention to the citizens of Salem to offer up thanksgiving for their present water system. Some who claim to have foresight for the future welfare of our city by turning to surface water for our supply might compare some of these systems with our own at the present time of drought. Let us remember the city fares best that has the lowest contact to water level though we may pay a little more to bring it to the surface, but it seems mighty nice to have plenty of it just now.

"Godliness with contentment is great gain." A lot of people out side and in Salem are making the mistake on the Sabbath day by forsaking the "Wells of living water" and going to the watering places of pleasure. Let us still contend for the deep well system in a spiritual way and fill the churches tomorrow.

Much of the future destiny of our civilization lies in the power of the mothers. The privilege of motherhood is one of the highest honors that God has bestowed upon woman. Mary the mother of Jesus highly honored motherhood by giving to the world her Son, our Savior. She further blessed her high position by giving birth to the brothers and sisters of Jesus. Down through all time, the work and influence of godly mothers has remained that imperishable work, a monument to their faith and fidelity. Godly mothers are truly the chosen builders for the Kingdom of God.

Many U. S. Students Study In France

PARIS, Aug. 9.—French schools and institutions of learning now know that the French language is the most thoroughly studied one in America.

An American, Captain Paul Perigord, head of the French department of the University of Southern California, has compiled statistics to this effect and presented them to the French themselves.

His figures reveal that more than 300,000 students in the United States study French in preference to German and Spanish.

Drought Damage Set At $100,000 In State; Plan Relief

LOUISVILLE, KY., Aug. 9.—As feared crops, burned pastures and dried streams gave mute testimony to the extent of the drought damage in Kentucky, estimated today by the Courier-Journal as already in excess of $100,000,000, stage and county officials were busy collecting data to determine what steps should be taken to relieve stricken areas.

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 9.—Immediate steps to aid drought stricken farmers of Ohio were being taken today by a committee of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce which was named last night by President Frank B. McMillin of Mt. Gilead. The committee went into action immediately, and today was organizing local credit and food finding committee in all of the drought suffering counties of the state. These committees will ascertain the condition of crops at present and the amount of relief needed.

No definite plan for establishing credit for the suffering farmers was arrived at during yesterday's meeting of the general committee of the chamber. Many suggestions were made but it was decided that a finance committee, made up of bankers, business men and farmers would be named to draft the plan.

Among relief plans put forward was the suggestion by State Director of Agriculture Perry L. Green that a state wide finance corporation be organized to handle the situation.

UNIFORM REGULATIONS FOR FLYING URGED BY LINDBERGH OVER RADIO

Flying Colonel Speaks Over Networks; Tells Of Possibilities

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—In his first formal radio address, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh Friday urged uniform flying regulations for all nations and predicted that the next few years would bring trans-oceanic air routes to unite continental services already established into a network covering the world.

"To realize the full significance of this development, however," he said, "it must be considered as a part of the whole system of modern transportation. Unless some radical scientific discovery revolutionizes our present aircraft we cannot compete with ships and railroads in the movement of most articles of commerce. The airplane augments rather than replaces ground transport. Its mission is to simplify intercourse between countries by rapid transportation of passenger and documents; to bring us in closer contact with other people and to facilitate the negotiations necessary for mutual understanding and trade."

Speaking over a microphone in the Columbia Broadcasting system studios, Col. Lindbergh delivered his talk twice to world wide audiences. First he talked by short wave for Europe, Asia, Africa and Australia, and later for American listeners served by both the Columbia stations and those of the two National Broadcasting company chains.

"Throughout history," Col. Lindbergh said, "the progress of civilization has been dependent upon the development of transportation. Every great advance in transportation has forecast a greater unity in world government."

"The twentieth century," he continued, "has seen an amplification of this statement, 'brings a third dimension in transportation to a world which had not yet time to become accustomed to the more recent developments of the railroad and the steamship. The airplane

Four Games Next Week Mark Close Of City Softball Schedule

Kiwanis, Penn-Ohio Clash In Outstanding Contest; Plan Series

Four games remain on the schedule for contestants in the city Class A softball league before the curtain on the 1930 season is officially drawn. Each of the contests come next week, following which the annual inter-league series between winners of first and second half championship titles will be played.

The Kiwanis club-Penn-Ohio clash, scheduled next Thursday, is the only important game relative to the second half titular race, for by losing to the power team, the clubmen can also lose their hold on the league lead and fall back into another tie with the Mullins.

The Mullins meets the strong United Cigars club in the second game on the Thursday menu while Tuesday the games will be centered on activities involving second division clubs.

The Salem Hardware, first half champs, demoralized to the extent that they are now in fifth place, meet the Electric Furnace in the first game at 6 p. m. with the National Sanitary and Macabre Lodge teams battling for a chance to advance from their present position in the cellar in the nightcap.

Tied In Cellar

The Macabres and Sanitary are now in a tie for the cellar position, having each won no games and are inflicted with six defeats. The Furnace, having won two out of six, can tie the lodgemen for fifth place with a victory in the opener.

The Penn-Ohioans looked strong Friday night when they set back a pickup aggregation by a 32 score at the park. The Macabres failed to put in their appearance and a team was selected to furnish action for the 500 fans which were thrilled to a 7-6 victory by the Kiwanis over Mullins in the first game of the evening. The powers won out with a display of high class baseball.

So it is entirely probable that, although Kiwanians are rated as superior to the power team at present, that Thursday's game will not be any of the one-sided variety and fans may be given another exhibition similar to that between the Kiwanis and Mullins.

Mullins Tops Hitting

Mullins, by virtue of its recent annihilation of the Macabre team, is leading the league in team batting with a percentage of .364 with the Kiwanis and United Cigars tied for second at .312 each. Macabres are fourth with .303, these teams being the only ones now in the .300 rating.

Electric Furnace battersmen slugged their team to a 298 to the top second-division teams while the Hardware is far behind in sixth with 265. The Penn-Ohio has only 250 while the National Sanitary has 140.

Joe Kelley passed his Kiwanis teammate, Mike Schuler in the individual batting race but he in turn gave way to Pat Bolin. Mullins first sacker who is on top with a .550 average, having clouted 22 hits in 10 times at bat. Kelley has an even .500 while Schuler has .50. Lee Christen, Penn-Ohio pitcher, rates high in hitting with .578 and is followed by Bob Campbell (Mullins) who totals a .474. Ed Beck (Cigars) is hitting .457 and Dick Cee (Furnace) has an even .450. Lloyd Robusch (Penn-Ohio) is another hitter in ranks of the elite with a .444.

Mullins is ahead in both total hits and runs, getting 61 markers off 62 sacrifices. The Cigars are rated second in both departments, getting 55 runs on 61 hits.

THREE INVOLVED IN CONTEST FOR BATTING HONORS

Lou Gehrig, Yankee Star Holds Point Lead In American Race

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—The fight for the American League batting championship once more has developed into a three-cornered battle between Al Simmons and Mickey Cochrane of the Athletics and Lou Gehrig of the Yankees.

Unofficial averages, including games of Wednesday disclosed that while the Yankees' first baseman kept his hold on first place for a second week, his lead dwindled to a bare percentage point over Simmons while Cochrane, another former leader, stood but four points to the rear.

Gehrig's unofficial average was .362 compared with Simmons' .361 and Cochrane's .378. His percentage dropped five points during the '30th week whereas Simmons increased one point and Cochrane hired his two points.

Batting averages of most of the leaders dropped slightly during the same period, however. In addition to the Yankee and Athletic leaders they were Averill, Cleveland, .364; Dickey, New York, .360; Ruth, New York, .359; Hodapp, Cleveland, .357; Porter, Cleveland, .355; Manush, Washington, .354, and E. Rice, Washington, .349.

Gehrig, however, held the most individual honors. In addition to his slight margin in the batting race his hits have been good for a total of 307 bases and have driven in 134 runs leading totals in both these batting departments. Babe Ruth had the most runs to his credit with 123 while he belted out five more home runs during the eight games for a total of 41, which put him far ahead of his record-breaking total of 127.

Urban Hodapp of the Indians led in most hits with 176 and was tied with Marty McManus of Detroit in doubles with 32. Earl Combs of the White Sox had 15 triples and McManus and his teammate, Charlie Gebringer were the leading base stealers of the circuit with 16 thefts.

The Yankees continued to lead in team batting with a .319 percentage while Washington hiked its fielding average up two points to tie the Athletics for the lead in that field.

"Lefty Grove, the Athletic cannonball shooter, captured two more games during the week to trim the lead of the Yankee ace, Wells. Grove has a season's record of 17 won and four lost, as compared with Wells' total of nine victories and two defeats.

THE DAY In Sports

THURSTON IDOL OF FANS FAILED IN PAST TRIAL

OF RECENT DAYS the sports veteran has focused the floodlights of his profession upon himself, and so when Hollis Thurston, ragamuffin of baseball battlefields, finally awoke the other morning to find his trusty pitching muscle flailing at him, he casually flipped across his all for dear old Brooklyn, home of the respectable citizens and the pop bottle.

Today Thurston has already claimed for himself a notch among 1930's pitching immortals, in an unusual and then again, perfectly customary manner. For Hollis has revealed a sort of twirling that in this day of the lively ball is far better than the par performance. And, as he has merely further indented the impression that any veteran who cannot function supernaturally during such an old man's boom isn't worth the price of a broom to sweep him back into the ash receptacle.

Nothing more than a decent here-and-there man in his two former excursions into the big leagues with the Chicago White Sox and Washington Senators—Hollis can slug, play the outfield, and pitch, hit, besides just throw balls plumbward—Thurston seems to have found himself at last. This sturdy Californian will probably throw his best ever not only because he has merely found himself. He has found a pennant contending team as well. Slapped together, Brooklyn and Thurston seem like a fairly dainty bargain.

"What has accounted for Brooklyn going Thurston?" you may arise and roar. Sheer nothing, of course, outside of a few richly hurried affairs. One day, in his starting bow, Hollis doped the St. Louis Cardinals with hurling heroism and permitted three hits. Another day about a week after, he Bostru-Braves were Thurstonized and the tonic so doused them that they came up fighting with a total of two hits.

These contests, which established the man who may have piffed Thurston the Magic of not only his name but his artistry, took place at Ebbets Field, and at Braves Field in Boston. And as a matter of fact everything went off so slumberingly that not even the drop of a pop bottle was heard. Indeed, everyone was too engrossed with the local initiation of this fellow to even recall just where he emerged from.

Salem Athletes In Pittsburgh Events

Given chances to score in each of their respective events, three Salem athletes left for Pittsburgh this morning and will compete in the Philadelphia company and affiliated corporations track and field meet.

Each of the Salem youths, Lowell Allen, Keith Roessler and James Gregg, are entered in two events. The events in which they will figure are the pole vault, high jump and broad jump.

River or studying how splinters grew into manhood.

Not at all discouraged, Hollis determined to stay. But before he did so he cautioned Robbie that if he merely became a lame-duck pitcher he would demand his release. The occasion for Hollis' demur was just about appropriate when Hollis, after sporadic visits to the box, was granted his opportunity to start. The Brooklyn pitching situation and Thurston's career were involved in the game. But if responsibilities mean this bit of pittance to the fellow—as they most assuredly did—Thurston's wasting his time as a baseball player. He should be president of the country.

What sort of effectiveness has this man who now looms as one of Robbie's mainstays? For one thing, he has a way of delivering a horsehide which sends of insanity. Hollis engulfs himself in an enigmatic contention and then the batter sort of sees the ball whizzing out at him from the direction of Thurston's spine. Usually they swing, taking it for granted they will miss any kind of delivery he offers. Then Hollis has the most beautiful control you ever did see. He probably could heave a cannon-ball through a pin-head without touching the sides.

Thurston also has a bewitching "sew" ball, whatever that is, and is consistent in not accommodating the batter with long distance balls. This change of pace and natural headiness round out the assets of H. T.

"The minute Uncle Robbie gives me my chance, I'll show them something near a no-hit piece of work," Hollis snarled prior to his new major league debut. The man not only knows his batters; he knows himself.

Bill Terry Succeeds Klein As National League's Top Hitter

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—Bill Terry, considered the finest first baseman in the big leagues today has finally slugged his way into the batting leadership of the National League.

Statistics including games of Wednesday show that Memphis Bill has jumped five points ahead of Chuck Klein, chief cloutier of the clouting Phillies, and boasts the gaudy gaiting average of .407.

While Klein trails with .402 for the time being there are still many honors left for him in the averages posted today. The brawny belter of the Phillies is tied with Terry for the largest number of safe hits, 173, and he has batted in the most runs, 118, as well as tallying the most himself, 109. In doubles he shares the lead with Johnny Frederick, the quiet outfielder of the Brooklyn Robins. Each has hit for two sacks 36 times.

Although Terry and Klein are the only regulars in the 400 class, considerable hitting has been turned in by two rivals for third place in the slugging parade. Lefty O'Doul, outfield mate of Klein and winner of the hitting crown last season, is just a point behind Babe Herman, the loquacious right fielder of the Robins. Herman is hitting at a .395 clip and O'Doul .394. Rags Stephenson has a mark of .383.

Hack Wilson of the Cubs, has hammered his way into a clean cut lead for home run glory and his total of 36 set far too hot a pace for Klein, the runner up with 29. Wal-ber Berger of the Braves, with 27, and Babe Herman and Gabby Hartnett of the Cubs, with 24 each follow. Adam Comorosky, of the Pittsburgh Pirates, aiming for the fences but falling one base short, leads in triples with 15.

Burglars Don't Seek the Limelight

DARKNESS is their stock in trade. They work by stealth—unheard and unseen—their movements cloaked in secrecy. It's honest folks that seek the light. They are the ones who can risk it.

It's the same way in business. The manufacturer or the merchant who is not sure of his goods does not dare to advertise. Advertising would hasten the end of his business career—put him to a test he could not meet.

The man who advertises, deliberately invites your inspection. He tells you about his product or his merchandise and then lets it stand on its own merits. You can depend on him. He knows his product is good.

That's one reason why it pays you to read the advertisements you find in the columns of this paper. It is through advertising that you are able to keep in touch with the good things that progressive business men are spending their money to introduce and to keep before you.

Advertisements are interesting, instructive and profitable. They throw a powerful light on the very things that concern you most. Read them.

Welsh Rarebit in Many Guises

Rather extensive is the Welsh rarebit family. "Spanish Woodcock," "English Monkey," "Blushing Bunny"—to mention only a few, are a variation of the same good old recipe—cooked cheese, highly flavored.

Whatever it's called, the chief qualities of good rarebit are a perfect, creamy smoothness and spicy flavor. It's not food for babes or weak digestions. But when a robust appetite craves something stimulating and slightly nourishing, but not too substantial, then a Welsh rarebit fills the bill beautifully.

Plain Welsh Rarebit

1/2 pound American cheese
2 tablespoons butter
1 egg
1/2 cup top milk or thin cream
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon mustard
1/2 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
1/4 teaspoon soda

Cut the cheese fine. Melt butter in top of a double boiler, add cheese and stir. When melted add the well-beaten egg and other ingredients, continuing to stir until thick. Then pour on crisp toast and serve immediately. Plates should be kept hot while the rarebit is cooking and as soon as finished should be served. Cooked cheese cannot be kept standing when lukewarm it is unpalatable, and when cold a tough and villainous dish.

All sorts of variations in flavoring are used. In the old days no rarebit was considered genuine unless it contained one cupful of ale or beer. But it imparted to the rarebit a rather bitter flavor which was a cultivated taste by some and never particularly liked by many.

A teaspoon of onion juice is considered a pleasant additional flavor, and those who like a rarebit very pungent add a discreet dash of cayenne.

Spanish Woodcock

1 cup thick tomato sauce
1 cup cooked chopped mushrooms

MOVIES

In Playhouses Of Salem

Program Of Special Talkies Scheduled Here Next Week

A PROGRAM OF really high-class talking attractions with "The Rogue Song," "Light of Western Stars" and "Courage" billed as the headlined attractions, is scheduled for appearance at the Grand and State theaters next week. The State closed for the past three months during opening days of the week, will reopen for everyday showings Monday.

"New York Nights" will appear as the State's feature for three days starting Monday with "Light of Western Stars" completing the week at that playhouse. Three features, "Courage," "The Rogue Song" and "Cheer Up and Smile" will show at the Grand for two days each.

Leading Westerner "Light of Western Stars" is previewed as the first and only western picture to be produced for talking synchronization to be greeted with success. Richard Arlen, Mary Brian and Harry Green are the stars, the play being adapted for the screen from Zane Grey's famous western novel.

The Brian-Arlen combination was first seen in "The Virginian," a picture which wasn't so good but in this, their latest, the young stars are cast in one of their best productions.

"New York Nights" marks the first talking appearance of Norma Talmadge while Lawrence Tibbet, known as the world's greatest baritone, makes a similar debut in "The Rogue Song." Catharine Dale Owen is cast opposite Tibbet while Gilbert Roland is Miss Talmadge's leading man. Both are rated high by moviegoers.

Makes Picture History

"Courage" is destined to make motion picture history as one of the greatest human interest stories ever written for the screen. Belle Bennett, feminine veteran of the silent day, is the star. Marion Nixon and Rex Bell are in supporting roles.

Whispering Jack Smith, Arthur Lake and Alpa Baclanova are featured in "Cheer Up and Smile." Johnny Arthur, clever actor of stage fame, also appears in the picture which is the newest college picture out. It is the first vehicle produced with a collegiate atmosphere since the close of the epidemic of the fraternity productions which was inflicted on the moviegoing public some months ago.

A story of the old-time wagon express of thrilling western days is at the Grand as an added attraction with "Cheer Up and Smile." It is "The Wagon Master," Ken Maynard starring.

"The Rogue Song" features a great cast of characters from Miss Owen and Tibbet down to Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, the country's leading screen comedians.

"Movie-tone Follies of 1930" play the State for the last time tonight while Bebe Daniels is starred in "Alias Frenchy" at the Grand.

DOCTORS' LIVES SAVED BY YOUTH

Serum From Blood Used To Protect Men In Search Of Cure

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—Serum from the blood of a 13-year-old boy, Julian Morris, of Sudlersville, Maryland, protects two United States government scientists, Dr. R. E. Dyer and Dr. L. F. Badger, as they search for a cure for typhus, using guinea pigs for the experiments.

Young Morris, who was ill for about two weeks with genuine typhus, a disease which thus far has baffled science, came to Washington and gave a half pint of his blood for injection in either of the experiments in case of laboratory accidents.

Dr. George W. McCoy, director of the laboratory of the national institute of health, a branch of the public health service, said the danger was very real. There have been many cases of infection, and several deaths, from laboratory experimentation in typhus, he said.

Young Morris' blood is also being used in experiments on protection from typhus. Dr. McCoy estimated that, if properly kept, it would retain some of its protective value for about a year.

Typhus, a disease characterized by sudden severe headache, high fever, rash, and often delirium, has no connection with typhoid fever.

MUTINY IN LINES CHINA THREAT

Nationalists Rush Aid To Hankow To Fight Off Communists

HANKOW, Aug. 9.—The spectre of mutiny lurked in the defense lines of Hankow today as Nationalist authorities rushed preparations to fight off the Communist horde threatening the city. A critical situation existed. Foreign gunboats were on the alert in their Yangtze river positions.

Eighteen Communists were put to death yesterday and last night by Nationalist forces seeking to prevent the "boring from within" tactics which so often have characterized Red operations in China.

A mutiny last night in the Hankow defense garrison and the commander's body guard was quickly put down but the situation remained tense as an army of Communist marauders moved closer to Hankow and its sister cities, Wu-chang and Hanyang.

Thousands of Chinese flocked into the foreign districts of the three cities seeking safety from the brigands. Eleven foreign warships were ready for action on the river. Military law ruled Hankow, public utilities and telegraph offices being guarded.

Reds were said to have captured Tachew, important iron mining center in southwestern Hupien province, and Changteh, northern Hunan. Ten thousand Reds were reported advancing upon Kuikangsi, important Yangtze river port and Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi.
